VETERANS REPULSED FROM FOOD TRENCH

WOMEN HAVE AMMUNITION ENOUGH FOR SUPPER TONIGHT

CHICKEN AND TRIMMINGS

Second Meal Will Be Served after Retreat and Lowering of Colors at 6 o'Clock

For two hours today, Nodaway county veterans of the Civil, Spanish-American and World Wars attacked in force against the embankments of fried chicken, potato salad, roast beef sandwiches, pickles, tomatoes, pie and coffee in the courthouse yard. At the end of that time the soldiers retired in bad order, ingloriously defeated by the women who prepared against their hungry appetites. The defenders had so much ammunition left, that it was announced after the veterans' retirement at noon, that they would again defend the food trenches this evening.

If ever there was a contented group of soldiers, it is the four hundred men, old and young, who, with their wives, were feasted on the fried chicken with trimmings. The spirit of "divine dissatisfaction" generally credited to soldiers, in spite of their willingness to give all, was nowhere visible today as they lined up for "chow."

No delays held the hungry veterans in line. As fast as piles of fried chicken, sandwiches, salad, et cetera, disappeared, other piles replaced them, with still other piles in reserve.

A partial list of the donations, kept by Miss Dessa Gault, explains why there was enough left for supper. There were 320 chickens, fried; there were 401 pies of every kind and description; eight and a half bushels of potatoes went into the potato salad, together with five and a half pecks of onions; 124½ dozen eggs, and 32½ quarts of mayonnaise dressing. There were 27 quarts of cream, 42 pounds of butter, and $72.55 donated in money. The Townsend Wholesale Company donated 18 pounds of Nickel Plate coffee.

"It was the greatest thing the town has ever put on," said E. P. Powell, a Civil War veteran who has lived in Nodaway county for fifty-two years. "The line was two blacks long, and those ladies just kept them moving right along." Mr. Powell now lives four miles southwest of Maryville.

Here for Celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Sherry of Stanberry, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. LaMar and daughter, Miss Clara Weber LaMar, Loren Russell, Emmett Meeks, Charles Bowman and Charles LaMar, all of Elmo, and Mr. and Mrs. John Burch and family of Clearmont are among the out-of-town people attending the centennial celebration here today.

Schools Dismissed Today.

A number of schools near Maryville dismissed today so as the pupils may see the historical parade. Among them were the Quitman, Wilcox and Pickering schools. At other schools, it was said, that there are many students absent today on account of the celebration in Maryville.

Miss Minnie Linneman of Kansas City was a week-end guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Linneman. She was accompanied to Kansas City by Mrs. Jack Holt, who will spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Anderson.

A merry-go-round began operation early this morning on the lot east of the Kane Building on East Third Street.

TO HONOR THE PAST; INSPIRE THE FUTURE

HISTORIC MARKER IS PLACE OF INSPIRATION AND ADORATION.

A THREE-FOLD PURPOSE

Day Pays Homage to City and County, State and War Veterans, Says Keller in Dedication Address.

With an eloquent address by Dr. Fred Keller before a crowd reaching as far as voice would carry, the boulder marking the site of Maryville's first house, the first historic marker to be erected by her citizens, was formally dedicated this morning.

Dr. Keller was introduced by Mayor F. P. Robinson, whose address was short. The principal speaker then told of the three-fold purpose of the day, eulogized the early settlers whose fortitude overcome the wilderness, and traced the development of the county and Maryville, then dedicating the marker as one to be pointed to a place of inspiration and adoration.

The boulder was veiled in the national colors, removed at the close of Dr. Keller's address, by Graham and Mary Donna Malotte, the great-grandchildren of Maryville's first woman, Mrs. Mary House Graham, for whom the town was named.

"We have gathered as citizens of this town, and of this county, and of the great commonwealth in which we live" said Dr. Keller, "to pay our measure of tribute to the patriotism of the young men who were willing to lay their all on the alter of liberty." We are gathered here to pay some measure of our respect to the great commonwealth of which we are so proud to be citizens, and we are here to pay homage to this town and this county were we are so glad to live."

Calling attention to the fact that Maryville has never before in its history set apart a day to raise a standard or a memorial to its historic record, Dr. Keller said, "It is a fitting custom handed down through generations of men that we should place before our children, and the children to be, some fitting memorial that will call attention to the historic past. Man, of all creatures, has the power to look behind, as well as the power to look into the future, and a retrospect is necessary if we would gather a fitting perspective.

"The first house built in the city of Maryville was built on this spot in 1844 by one Caleb Burns, who spent some five or six years here and then went on to California during the gold rush.

"This Northwest part of Missouri came through the hands of Spain and France and eventually into the hands of America By the Platte Purchase it was secured from the Indians in 1836.

"The first settler in the county built a cabin near Graham. He was Isaac Hogan, who met death at the hands of the Indians. The next was a man named Hall. He built the first still in the county and his "tonic" was famous. Then came the Grahams, and the Prathers and the Heatons and the Hudsons, families made of sterner stuff, who, on these spreading prairies amid waving grass, were willing to remain and make their all.

"In 1845 was seen the beginnings of the first courthouse. In 1847 we had our first subscription school, taught in the old courthouse where the Price Furniture store now stands. The next school was a public school established over here on the corner of Fifth and Market in 1867 in what is now known as the old Ford residence In 1878 the old Academy was established out where it now stands by A. D. Workman. In two years it had some 150 students. In 1872 was established the business college which was abandoned recently.

"Then came the public library, established here, where it stands as one of the greatest aids to education.

"In 1907 the State Teachers College was established, with the prospect of being a part if not supreme over any in the state.

"From 1867, there has grown a public school system in Maryville and the surrounding country which has become famous all over the country, and our vitalized agriculture schools have a national and international reputation.

"Other educational factors are the social, fraternal and patriotic organization which have a part in the parade this afternoon. We owe much to them

BUGLERS WHO ENDED CIVIL WAR MEET AT CELEBRATION

N. Sisson Sounded Last Bugle Call for Grant at Appomattox, H. P. Childress the South's.

Two buglers met in Maryville today whose notes once were heard the world over. They were N. Sisson of this city and H. P. Childress of Brush, Colo., who formerly lived here and is back for a visit.

The bugle notes of these two veterans ended the Civil War. Childress sounded the bugle call for the South at Appomattox, when General Lee and his army surrendered to that of General Grant. Mr. Sisson participated in the last engagement on the morning of April 9, sounding the last hostile bugle call, the order to "charge," as well as the last call to "halt," which checked Curtis' charging column as the flag of truce in token of surrender was proffered to Custer, the last act of the war.

VETERANS OF THREE WARS IN PARADE

MESS CALL WAS SOUNDED

All Ex-Service Men Fell Out for Dinner——Two Bands in the Parade.

Promptly at 11:30 this morning the bugle notes of "assembly" fell again upon the ears of the veterans of three wars, who were assembled at the corner of First and Main streets, and at the command "march" the parade marking the Second Annual Soldier's Reunion was off. Heading the parade were the color bearers, Jack Pennington and Ed Kendall with the American Flag and the V. F. W. Post flag and Floyd Tailman and Henderson Aley. Following the color bearers was the Maryville Band in uniform with William Nielson as drum major. Then came the veterans of the World War of the army section with platoons commanded by Orlen Kelly, Ed Condon and Delmar Carmichael. Following the doughboys came the "gebs" commanded by Frank M. Miller. Then came the boys of '98, veterans of the Spanish-American War headed by Capt. Paul Sisson. Next in the line of march was the Barnard Band and following them was G. A. R. veterans of the Civil War, some marching and the older ones following in cars decorated with the national colors.

The line of march was from the corner of First and Main north to Fourth, east to Market, and on around the square, where the veterans were brought to company front before the reviewing stand in front of the West side of the courthouse.

In the reviewing stand were Major E. C. Braniger, Capt. R. C. Person, Capt. Chas. T. Bell, Capt. H. S. Rowlett, Capt. W. M. Wallis, Jr., Capt. H. S. Dowell, Lieut. L. E. Dean and Mayor F. P. Robinson. Mayor Robinson announced to the soldiers that the films for taking the moving pictures of the parade failed to arrive and that the parade would be assembled again at 1:30 to take the pictures. Then came the command, "fall out" and mess call was sounded for dinner to all ex-service men.

HIGH SCHOOLS OVER COUNTY ARE CROWDED

Wilcox May Add Another Year to Their High School—Raising Subscriptions Now.

According to County Superintendent Bert Cooper, the high schools over the county are crowded with pupils. Mr. Cooper has received reports from nearly all of them.

Wilcox patrons are thinking of adding another year to their two year high school. In that community there are seven pupils who are wanting to take the third year course. The people of Wilcox held a meeting Monday night at which time plans for adding another year to their school were discussed. County Superintendent Cooper was in attendance and gave them the approximate cost for the equipment and teacher and also spoke about the requirements necessary for the school to get the approval of the state. Subscriptions are being taken by the people of Wilcox to pay the expense of another year of high school.

He is the possessor of 300 slides taken during the Spanish-American war which will be shown during the celebration here today. Mr. Lippman was a member of Company E. Fourth Regiment, which was composed of Nodaway County men who participated in the Spanish-American war.

CELEBRATION HAS NO DISAPPOINTMENT

AIRPLANE ARRIVES FROM OMAHA AT 2 O'CLOCK.

MANY IN LATE CROWD

Movie Man Fails to Bring Films—Package of Films From Kansas City Did Not Arrive.

When an airplane soared into sight from the west at 2 o'clock today, the last doubt of the success of Maryville's Second Annual Soldiers' Reunion and Centennial Celebration vanished. W. A. Parkins, aerial acrobat, who arrived in the city this morning, brought the news that one of the machines that was to be brought here had been disabled in Northern Iowa. The other was to be brought from Omaha, and its coming was anxiously awaited.

There was only one other hitch in the committee's celebration plans. That was the failure of movie films to arrive from Kansas City, where the company reported they had been sent by registered mail. At noon today, they had not arrived, and Corey G. Cock, moving picture photographer, who came from Omaha by automobile yesterday, was unable to get his machine into action.

The judges who will pick the winner from the various episodes in the historical parade-pageant this afternoon were picked by Bert Cooper, county superintendent of schools, this morning. They were W. A. Power, Quitman; J. N. Geyer, Pickering; C. F. Ross, Burlington Junction; Artie Cotter, Lafayette School, and one other, to be chosen, Guy Curry, from Wilcix Consolidated School; George Somerville, Hopkins, and W. I. Lewis, Harmony.

The day of the big celebration dawned clear, bring promise of a mammoth crowd. Later in the morning, however, clouds gathered and a brisk wind caused many to think that rain would come before night. It cleared again in the afternoon, and the real crowd of the day began coming.

ASKS TO SEND TROOPS TO DISARM GUARDS

Situation Serious in Two Places in Illinois Where Miners Have Been on Strike for 10 Months.

Centralia, Sept. 7.—Governor Small of Illinois will be asked to send the state troops to Rosiclare if necessary to disarm the guards charged with firing on striking miners, according to John Guern, member of the committee sent from Elizabethtown. Serlousness of the conditions in the two places where the miners have been on a strike for ten months is being minimiced by the operators, Guern declared, in an effort to delay intervention. A campaign of intimidation is being carried on against the miners by "hired assassins" Guern declared.

This is a rejection of the Sinn Fein's demand for an independent republic.

The British cabinet's reply to the Sinn Fein's latest peace note was dispatched to Dublin late today. King George was notified of the cabinet's reply.

Dublin, Sept. 7.—The Sinn Fein will enter the peace conference with the British government regardless of whether the British recoguize the Irish Republic, it was announced today by responsible Republican leaders. COUNCIL TRANSACTS ONLY ITS ROUTINE BUSINESS

Traffic Ordinance Will Be Revised at Future Meeting to Conform With New State Law.

The city council, meeting last night, transacted only routine business, allowing bills and hearing reports of mayor librarian, fire chief, chief of police, weighmaster and police judge.

The fire truck made only three runs during the month of August, and one of those was on a false alarm, according to the report of Burt Rowley, fire chief. The bona fide fires were at the tile factory, north of the Burlington railroad station, and the home of Willis Rose, 610 Market street, on August 5 and 7. The false alarm called the department to the home of W. T. Doyle, 314 West Seventh street.

In police court, the report of Mayor Robinson, acting as police judge, shows that Fred Harbison, H. G. Barton, councilman, H. H. Mutz, Jesse Douglas, C. D. Bellows, Dr. F. M. Ryan, Frank Fitz, Frank Hooper and D. C. Moore paid fines of $5 and costs for operating motor vehicles without license. W. A. Saunders was fined $30 and costs for speeding, and C. W. Rose and Lon Heflin $5 and costs for less serious offenses of the same nature. The name of John Doe appears as a drunk, with a forfeited cash bond of $10.

No attempt was made at revision of the city traffic ordinances. The revision will be made at a future meeting after a copy of the new state law has been received.

FOREST FIRES THREATEN TO DESTROY SIX TOWNL

Hopes of Saving Three Minnesota Towns Have Been Given Up Because of High Winds.

McGrath, Minn., Sept. 7.—Desperate battles are being fought today by the troops and citizens to prevent the destruction of half a dozen towns and hamlets in this district by forest fires.

The fate of several towns depends on the caprice of the wind. With the flames practically under control it is believed the increase in the volicity of the wind would destroy hopes of saving Arthyde, Johnsdale and Hillman.

WAR FINANCE CORPORATION AMENDMENT.

The War Finance Corporation amendment was passed before Congress took its vacation. In its final form it empowers the Coropration to issue for sale $1,500,000,000 of its own bonds and to lend $1,000,000,000 for financing agricultural exports. The provision for lending to alien borrowers was stricken out and in its place as a compromise was inserted a provision which will permit the Corporation to lend to anybody providing satisfactory collateral is supplied. The proposal to make available to the Federal Farm Loan Banking System $200,000,000 to be loaned to farmers on farm real estate was stricken from the bill. The provision for lending to cooperative association was retained. The American Farm Bureau Federation was very much interested in seeing this particular feature of the bill as well as some others incorporated in the final set.

In broadening the powers of the War Finance Corporation it is now permitted to make loans to exporters, bankers or associations of producers of agricultural products which are held for export. Heretofore the Corporation could only lend on products which actually were "sold for export." The War Finance Corporation recently announced advances made to finance exportation of agricultural products envole approximately $26,000,000. It has recently made loans to the following: Texas Farm Bureau Federation on 300,000 bales of cotton, Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Association, 2,000 bales of cotton, California prune and Apricot Growers' Incorporated, 25,000,000 pounds of prunes, Washington Wheat Growers' Association, 8,000,000 bushels of wheat, Idaho Wheat Growers' Association, 2,000,000 bushels of wheat, Oregon Cooperative Grain Association, 2,000,000 bushels of wheat and the Montana Wheat Growers' Association, 1,000,000 bushels of wheat.

The president recently signed the deficiency appropriation bill providing $200,000 for administration of the new packer control bill which was made a law on August 12. The American Farm Bureau Federation actively supported this packer legislation which provides for the regulation of both the packers and stock yards by the Secretary of Agriculture. He will promulgate rules and regulations for fair dealing and is empowered to make investigations of any charges against the business practices of either the stock yards or packers, and provide bookkeeping forms and give publicity generally to his findings.

The Capper-Tincher grain marketing control bill which also received the support of the Federation is another regulatory measure which will be under the administration of the Secretary of Agriculture. It seeks to prohibit speculation in wheat and other grains by placing the grain exchanges under his direction. The Secretary will license these exchanges and the licenses will be revoked if the exchanges violate the regulations for trading in grain promulgated by him. The bill places a prohibitive tax on all future sales unless they are made on a market designated by the Secretary as a "contract market." It also seeks to curb speculative operations on any market but will permit an individual or firm to "hedge" to the extent of 10,000 bushels. A Board of Appeals is provided in the bill which is to consist of the Secretary of Agriculture, Secretary of Commerce and attorney general.

BACKACHE OF WOMEN.

The back is often called the mainspring of a woman's life. What can she do, where can she go, so long as that deadly backache saps every particle of her strength and ambition? she cannot walk, she cannot stand, her housework is a burden, or the long hours behind the counter, in the office or factory are crushing. She is miserable. The cause is many times some derangement of her system, and backache is a common symptom. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a reliable remedy for backache, as for more than forty years it has been relieving women of America from the ailments which often cause it.—Adv.

AUTO CAMPS BRING TIDE OF TOURISTS

TOURS NOT PLANNED OVER THE BEST ROADS.

WEST GETS THEM ALL

And the Reason Is That the Travelers, a Free Spending Group, are Made Comfortable.

Kansas City, Sept. 7.—Westward the tide of automobile travel rolls its way.

Automobile tourists from Central and Mid-West states have distributed over $4,000,000 over the West this summer, it is estimated, while the East has had but little of this tourist travel.

And the East, with its wonderful network of state highways, its great cities, its famous Atlantic coast beaches, and even with New York City as a lodestone, asks "How Come?"

Out of the West comes the answer in two short words—Auto Camps.

This summer marked the passing of "dressed up" automobiling for the motorists of the Mid-West. Touring for them is no longer an everlasting struggle to keep clean and keep their clothes presentable for swell hotel lobbies and dining rooms. They go in comfortable camp togs, with a camping outfit, and they head West, where every town and city has an auto tourists' camp for their comfort and convenience.

Auto Camps Sought.

Their tours this summer were not planned over maps showing the best state roads. They planned their routes along the trails which offered the best auto camping grounds. They had rough traveling over many roads, but they found a real welcome in the camps and kept cool and comfortable in khaki togs.

Through Kansas City's auto park this tide of auto tourists has ebbed and flowed all summer. Hundreds of cars use the park every week and on any day the license plates of a dozen Central and Mid-West states can be counted.

"We're all bound West this summer, "said a Central States motorist, touring with his wife and two kiddies. "You can't tour and be dressed up, so we're following the trails of the auto camps."

"But eastern states have auto camps," the newspaperman replied. "Why hit these western dirt roads where a hard rain means a lay-over for days?"

"The East is asleep," the motorist replied. "Some cities have auto camps, but there are long jumps between camps on many of the best state roads.

West Beats the East.

"The West has 'beat 'em to it' and has auto camps all along the route. It has drawn thousands of tourists this summer and the average family—like my own—spends $10 per day. We've been all over the West before and the scenery didn't attract us. Certainly the roads held no appeal. I've never been east of Detroit and would like to see New York, but until they have auto camps I'll spend my vacations in the West."

It's the same with all of them. They don't stop at a garage and ask the best route to such and such a place. They look on the wall and read the list of "swell" auto camps, or they ask their camping neighbor what such and such a city has in auto tourist accommodations.

And the "accommodations" would open the eyes of the Eastern tourist. All of the parks have properly drained camping grounds, running water, covered dining shelters, open-air ovens and stoves with firewood provided and an attendant who sees that you are properly placed.

Camps are First Class.

Some parks have hot and cold water, shower baths, kitchens, laundries, mess halls where food supplies can be purchased, and filling and repair stations right on the lot.

It's all free. You pay for nothing except your suppiles, and you are welcome to stay as long as you like.

And it is not because it is the "cheap" way to tour that auto camping has jumped into popularity. It is the comfortable way and the pleasant way. In any Western auto park one will find beautiful cars of the most expensive makes with trailers containing luxurious camp equipment parked among the camping parties who start out with a tent and a few cooking utensils in the family flivver.

They have gone west, where the auto camps have called them, to tour as they please and live the life in the open.

SPENCER INSISTS ON BARRING LINDLEY

Suggests Hollenbeck or Bestor as Compromise Candidate for State Dry Director.

Senator Spencer, at his home in St. Louis, from Washington, apprently ended all chance of an agreement with National Committeeman Babler in the Missouri patronage dispute by announcing that under no circumstances would he stand for the appointment of Dr. E. R. Lindley of Stanberry, as state prohibition director. Babler, a few weeks ago in an interview, said he would confer with Spencer and submit a proposal that Spencer agree to Lindley's appointment in return for Babler and his friends consenting to Spencer's naming anyone he chose for some of the other federal appointments.

"Dr. Lindley is all right personally, but he is too closely tied up to Dr. Shupp," Spencer said. "I haven't a thing against Dr. Lindley, but I will never consent to his appointment and I don't believe the appointment will be made without my approval. Why shouldn't I have final approval? I was elected and sent to Washington by the votes of the people of the entire state.

"I can't understand the alliance Dr. Shupp has made. It looks to me as though the head of the Missouri Anti-Saloon League is playing politics. I have submitted the names of Arch T. Hollenbeck of West Plains and State Representative Bestor of Pemiscot county as compromise candidates for the prohibition directorship, and I believe one of these two will be agreed on soon."

Shupp recently said he was favorable to the appointment of J. D. De Buchananne, a friend and employe of Babler, as prohibition director. Spencer refused to consent to this appointment. Spencer first tried to obtain the appointment of Roy H. Monier of Carrollton, but this was blocked by Babler, and Gov. Hyde appointed Monier a member of the State Tax Commission. Then Spencer suggested Gus O. Nations, attorney for the state blue sky law department. No agreement could be reached on Nations and he was dropped. Hollenbeck and Bestor then were offered by Spencer as compromise candidates.

Babler, in his interview, said he was standing pat for Dr. Lindley. He also said President Harding was desirous of seeing the two factions in the party get together before next year's general election.

Spencer was told that leaders in the St. Louis Republican organization had agreed to back Nat Goldstein for postmaster and was asked if he also had indorsed Goldstein.

"I have not," he said. "The appointment is a considerable distance off."

METHODISTS WANT 'SOUTH' TAKEN FROM CHURCH NAME

Report Authorizes Plea to Next Conference to Be Held in Hot Springs.

Hannibal, Mo., Sept. 7.—Elimination of the word "south" from the corporate name of the church, is one of the requests to be made of the general conference which meets next year in Hot Springs, Ark., as contained in a report adopted yesterday at the annual session of the Missouri Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. It was requested that there be adopted "such word as will adequately and properly define the genius and spirit of our great world-wide Methodism."

Several other changes in the general laws of the church are advocated in this report. Among these was the proposal to elect bishops for a term of years instead of for life. The bishops would also be required to live within their respective episcopal districts.

and to other public spirited people who were willing to give of their time and their means that we might have a successful celebration of this kind.

"We owe an untold measure to the young men, assembled here in their annual celebration, who were willing to give their lives on the altar of liberty that a republican form of government might continue to live and continue to spread its blessings over a free and intellectual people.

"Our newspapers began in 1867 and have continued down to the present time. They were two great factors of co-operation, harbingers of good will, extending their blessings over the entire county.

"We are proud to have with us the own daughter of Mrs. Mary House Graham, for whom this city was named, and two of her great grandchildren, who will now remove the covering that you may see the inscription on the monument."

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Hooker and Mrs. George H. Colbert returned Tuesday evening from a motor trip to Lincoln, Neb., where they spent a few days.

ARE FOR LOWER AGE RETIREMENT LIMIT

Rural Carriers at Meeting Urge Government to Maintain Closer Road Supervision.

At the semi-annual meeting of the rural mail carriers of the Fourth congressional district, held at St. Joseph Monday, reports by the delegates to the late state meeting in Hannibal were heard. They showed that the state association has had a growth of 253 members during the year. The state association is backing the postoffice department in its efforts to reduce expenses.

Resolutions presented by F. H. Graham of Oregon, chairman of the resolutions committee, and unanimously adopted, are in part as follows:

"That, as the term of active service of the rural carrier is less than that of any government employe, by reason of his arduous service and exposure to the elements, the department is asked through the national carriers' association to reduce the age limit for retirement from sixty-five years to sixty years, at the carrier's option after fifteen years of service.

"All mail should be properly stamped before being placed in a rural box for collection.

"Carriers should not be allowed to deviate from their routes.

"The government is asked to maintain closer supervision over the roads used by rural carriers.

"In view of the fact that fourth class postal matter is carried at a loss, the department is asked to raise the postal rates on that class of matter.

"We are opposed to the ownership, or publication, of any publication by the national organization.

A resolution authorizing the president of the district organization to appoint a committee representing each county to ascertain the sentiment of the carriers as to whether the district organization should be maintained or should be divided into county groups, was adopted. The committee will report at the next meeting, Feb. 22, 1922.

O. G. Null of Pickering was in attendance at the meeting. He is secretary-treasurer of the association.

Mrs. G. W. Swinford and daughter, Miss Irene Swinford, have returned from a ten days' visit in Greeley, Fort Collins and other points in Colorado.

Sir Walter Raleigh Had A Bright Idea

You remember the episode of the rainy day when he threw his cloak into a puddle that the good queen might cross without getting wet feet and perhaps the flu. That was advertising. Sir Walter had a message of import to her majesty. He wanted a hearing. He got it—by a courteous and ingenious method of attracting favorable attention. It was another case of advertising that paid both ways.

Business today is metaphorically throwing its cloak before you. It seeks your favorable attention. It uses its most effective method of capturing it—advertising. Day after day it caters to your tastes and your desires through advertisting.

The men who advertise in this paper believe that if they succeed in getting their messages across to you, you will often be interested and sometimes inspired with a little of their own enthusiasm for their wares.

Advertising keeps your information up to date on every article of human need, whether food, clothing, articles of household utility, necessities or luxuries.

REDISTRICTING MAY BE FOUGHT IN COURT

Judge Williamson Said to Plan Suit Against Hyde's Measure.

Jefferson City, Sept. 7.—Information reached here from Kansas City today to the effect that Judge John I. Williamson, formerly a member of the Supreme Court, has decided to institute proceedings in the Supreme Court attacking the state senatorial redistricting measure promulgated by Gov. Hyde, Attorney General Barrett and Secretary of State Becker following the adjournment of the regular session of the Legislature.

Judge Williamson and former Secretary of State Roach five months ago were appointed by the Democratic State Committee to investigate the possibility of attacking the redistricting measure, but never submitted any report.

The constitution provides that when the Legislature has failed to arrange the state senatorial districts following the announcement of the population by the Federal Census Department, the Governor, Attorney General and Secretary of State will rearrange the districts. The regular session of the last Legislature did not perform this function.

It is said that Judge Williamson's proposed suit will be based upon allegations that when the people adopted the initiative and referendum amendment to the constitution the redistricting power of the Governor, Attorney General and Secretary of State was repealed.

RAINES JEWELRY STORE HAS DISPLAY OF RELICS

Bailey-Cummins Company Adds to Heirlooms Exhibited in Its Windows.

An interesting window display today is that in the windows of the Raines Jewelry Store. Harry Snyder has loaned the store his elaborate collection of coins for exhibition in the north window, and anselm Schumacher is the owner of the collection of Indian arrowheads, axes, hammers and other relics, together with a varied coin collection.

Chief in interest of the Snyder coin collection is a Roman Aes, a coin bearing the date of 585 B. C. and weighing a half pound. In contrast are some minute 50 cent gold pieces used in California during the gold rush of '49. There is also some Indian money.

Several additions have been made to the Bailey-Cummins Furniture Co. window since the Democrat-Forum went to press yesterday.

Possibly the oldest relic in the county is an apothecary's morter belonging to M. A. Hahn. It was made in 1648 and brought to America from England by Michael Loveridge in 1838. He was the grandfather of M. A. Hahn. The mortar is 273 years old and has been in the Hahn family since it was brought to America.

Two of the most interesting things on display are the first copies of The Nodaway Democrat and The Maryville Republican. The former was edited and published by A. P. Morehouse and A. C. Buell, Mr. Moorehouse afterward became governor of the state of Missouri. It was first published Nov. 13, 1869. The Republican was edited by M. A. Roseberry and published by James D. McClain. The first paper was published Aug. 2, 1870.

These two papers, the oldest in the county, have since become the Democrat-Forum, being consolidated with the Nodaway Forum in 1910.

Other articles are:

Probably the oldest broadax in this part of the country. Handed down to various descendants of the Holt family for over 100 years. It is now the property of A. J. Holt.

A spread owned by Dr. T. E. Graham of Albany, Mo., John M. and George Graham built and operated the first woolen mill in Gentry county and in Northwest Missouri in the year 1869. The spread was woven for T. E. Graham, the son of John M. Graham.

A walnut chest, made in North Carolina by Paul Anthony, which bore the date 1824 until time erased it. It was brought to Missouri soon after it was made and has been in Nodaway County since the Civil War and has been in the Tarpley home since the death of Mr. Anthony, who was the grandfather of B. F. Jerry, and Lon Tarpley.

A cradle made in 1823 by a Revolutionary soldier named Robbins, an ancester of Brint Embree and Fred Newlon, for their grandmother, in which she was rocked.

A chair made in Chillicothe, Ohio, for George Barmann, April 4, 1834. At his death the chair was given to his son Frank Barmann.

A bedspread belonging to Mrs. Jim Andy Ford, and made for her grandmother, Phebe Genung, the year of her birth by an aunt for whom she was named.

Another very interesting relic is an old tar bucket, the property of Mrs. Frank Roelofson, which was brought to Missouri in 1848 from North Carolina by Jacob Greason. He first settled in Clinton county. The bucket was very old before it was brought to Missouri so it is assume that it is over 150 years old.

Any person in the county who has relics or heirlooms of this kind is requested to inform the Bailey-Cummins Furniture Company, where they will be listed for the use of the women's clubs of the city in any future celebration or in the possible event that a museum is ever organized. The reports will be immediately handed over to the secretary of the historical committee of the clubs.

In the north window of the D. E. Hotchkin store are two dolls, one of which is nearly 100 years old and the other from the stock of the store, contrasting the dolls of a century ago and today. The former doll was the property of Mr. Hotchkin's grandmother, Mrs. L. Bradley.

DISCUSS FACTS OF DISARMAMENT MEET

WILL MEET UNDER MOST UNPROMISING AUSPICES.

ADDED COMPLICATIONS

League of Nations, Ireland, Japan, Mexico, South America and Others Will Be Brought In.

By Richard Linthicum.
(Special Correspondence)

Washington, Sept. 7.—Any intelligent discussion of the forthcoming Disarmament Conference with a view of anticipating results therefrom must be predicated upon a set of facts, succinctly as follows:

1. The Conference was reluctantly called in response to the demands of public opinion created by Senator Borah and his Democratic and Progressive Republican colleagues.

2. The simple question of disarmament has been complicated by the injection of purely diplomatic Asiatic questions which can only operate against speedy and successful results.

3. The record of President Harding as a Senator and as Chief Executive shows him to have been unsympathetic toward disarmament or world peace.

4. The record of Senator Lodge shows him to have been a jingo throughout his entire career and the antithesis of the spirit which should govern a conference of this sort, particularly in his attitude toward Great Britain and Japan, two of the principal conferees.

The disarmament conference therefore will meet under most unpromising auspices. But these are not the most discouraging features of the situation. The administration having complicated the disarmament programme, complications are beginning to multiply.

The Japanese are insisting that the principal Far Eastern questions which might otherwise come before the conference are already "accomplished facts" and therefore not subject to discussion . Baron Okuma, the former premier and one of the elder statesmen is quoted as saying that if the conference undertakes to discuss the "accomplished facts" Japan should quit the conference.

Senator McCumber of South Dakota the ranking Republican member of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, has put the question of a League or Associations of Nations squarely up to the administration in a public statement, as a condition precedent to any agreement for the limitation or armaments, the contention being that any agreement to reduce or limit armaments would be worthless without an organized league or association empowered to use force to carry out the agreement.

It is reported that Ireland, Korea, India, Egypt, and possibly Mexico, will make demands for the settlement of their grievances by the conference.

It is also reported that South and Central America, which have not been invited to take part in the conference, will have special observers here, as their military establishments might be effected by any hard and fast decision of the conference.

Senators Borah and Johnson in their demand for open sessions of the conference, a demand which also has been voiced eloquently by Senator Harrison, one of the leading Democratic orators of the Senate, are apparently arousing public sentiment in behalf of publicity, which would afford opportunity of airing many matters which might otherwise not come before the conference.

Another advocate of open sessions is Frederic R. Coudert, the great international lawyer, who fears that closed sessions will result in much misunderstanding and distortion in the public press of what takes place behind closed doors.

The opposition of Senator Lodge's appointment as a member of the Disarmament Conference is wide-spread, among his critics being prominent members of the Women's Committee for World Disarmament. Aside from opposition because of his well-known views on the subject, Senator Lodge is also opposed by leading newspapers on the ground that his appointment to a diplomatic mission is a violation of Article 1, Section 6, of the Constitution of the United States, which prohibits Senators and Representatives from holding any civil office under the United States, the intention being to protect the legislative branch from executive influence. This matter was thoroughly and convincingly discussed by Senator Lodge's late colleague, Senator Hoar, in protesting against similar appointments by President McKinley.

Hopeful as the country is that something in the way if limitations of armaments may result from the conference, it must be admitted that the optimism with which the calling of the conference was received is rapidly changing to a state of pessimism and doubt.

President Harding's address to the Army War College in which he said that there may never be a time without the necessity for armed forces in every government is construed by some mean that the President is backpedaling on disarmament, or rather that he is reasserting an attitude he maintained prior to his call for a disarmament conference.

It is also taken to mean that the President wants the people to understand they must not expect too much from the coming conference on the limitation of armaments.

It is apparent, however, from the great number of questions that are arising in connection with this conference that the people will expect a great deal from it. It is obvious also that these questions have arisen by reason of President Harding's enlargement of the scope of the conference as originally contemplated under the Borah resolution. When he injected extraneous and purely diplomatic problems into the simple problem of a limitation of armaments, he opened the way for the introduction of almost any problem remotely associated therewith.

If the increasing pessimistic view of the forthcoming conference shall be justified either by lack of actual results in a reduction of armaments or involving the conference in problems not properly related thereto, the blame will obviously be attached to President Harding's dangerous enlargement of the scope of the conference.
